

After game one, organiser Jim Jamieson came up with a fiendish plan. He would institute a system of fines, and there was no escape.

One player was fined for his braces, and others were fined for having Crossmyloof experience. Those who never threw a stone there were fined just to balance it up. One skip was fined for scoring three shots against Derek Brown, our European Mixed hopeful.

Between games Reformers took very opportunity to enjoy the sights and make the most of the local restaurants.

All too soon the weekend was at an end. But there was one more task for Reform. The closing dinner was the test event for the closing banquet for the European Mixed, and Reform members were up to the task!

Pages 4-5 Top L-R: The guest team from Spain with Malcolm Richardson. (Photo by Hugh Stewart); Mark Callan and Scott Henderson, miracle workers, aka icemen. (Hugh Stewart); The top table, Liz Jamieson, Joyce Richardson, Malcolm Richardson, Ana Arce, Andrew Ferguson-Smith, Michael Burton. (David Robertson)

Middle: It's party time! (David Robertson); Andrew Ferguson-Smith, David Robertson, Hugh Stewart, money changing hands, a bribe or paying a fine? (David Robertson); The piece de resistance... the lobster. (Lois Copland)

Bottom: Andy Robinson preparing to go on the ice, Michael Burton and Jim Jamieson organising. (Lois Copland); Announcing the winners of the Calcutta, Robin Copland, Lesley Arrowsmith, Bob Kelly, Jim Jamieson. (David Robertson); Closing dinner, Neil Gillies, Derek Brown, Rhona Brown, Cathryn Guthrie, Lorna Rettig, Andrew Laird, Elspeth Burns, Greig Smith, Ann Gillies. (Neil Gillies)

This page above: Jim Jamieson issuing orders. (Hugh Stewart)

Below: Gordon and Jacqui Crawford celebrated their silver wedding anniversary in Andorra. Should this not be a caption competition? (Hugh Stewart)

