

Next morning we said our goodbyes and headed back to the airport, but we still had some sightseeing to do.

Lunch had been arranged at Castel di Ciutat, a formidable fort built high on a mountain with a panoramic view of the surrounding valleys. Parts of the castle have been refurbished and it's used as a conference centre or can be hired for dinners. We lunched in the splendid setting of the great hall.

Reform Curling Club's thanks go to Andrew Ferguson-Smith and Josep Duro, President of the Andorran Curling Association, who helped organise a wonderful weekend to celebrate the club's birthday.

A weary group of curlers finally arrived back at Prestwick Airport... and there's talk of another Reform tour in the near future!

From top: Homeward bound, the tourist bit at Castel di Ciutat. (Photo by Hugh Stewart); Arriving at Castel di Ciutat. (Photo by Lois Copland); Rosemary Biggart and Kate Fyfe. (Photo by David Robertson); The last lunch. (Photo by David Robertson).